

The IF-ICL website - note from the ICL-IF webmaster

General Information

The website address is www.icl-club.ch

This address will not change to an International Friends address such as, for example, www.if-ch – too complicated to do. To make an IF website, the former ICL site was regrouped in order to separate IF pages from the International Club pages.

To make looking up the past a little bit easier, below is a list of links to some items of the ICL past, including the latest pictures of our anniversary outing on September 23. You might be asked whether you accept opening the links as your browser may not consider the origin to be secure. You don't have to worry, this is because the ICL site is edited with old internet technology.

If you want to search more the past of ICL such as past events and pictures, archives etc → proceed as below:

The menu of the IF pages has the item "Former ICL Site".

From there the pages are further grouped to "ICL Website till mid-2023" as shown below. From there you can find the various sub-pages that belong to the former ICL webpage.

As an example, in the last subgroup you find three archive items. Among them the Newsletters and the FASC History. The latter opens another chapter of Anglo-Swiss history, namely that of the Federation or Anglo-Swiss Clubs of which ICL was a member for many years.

In fact, the original FASC website having been discontinued, the only way to access their archives is via the ICL site. This access leads to the new FASC website which has links to the past of the Federation such as newsletter, meeting protocols, outings etc.

How to find the IF – ICL web address

If you don't remember the IF-ICL web address, open your Google browser and enter "icl-club lausanne", icl lausanne" or just ICL club". If you use Google the name of 'International Friends' should be on top of the page.
