Turbo-hydroelectric Powerplant - Clean Electricity

Wednesday, October 20 14h30

We will visit a most unknown place situated just about opposite to the well-known Château de Chillon.

It is an underground powerplant that produces electricity from water stored 900 m higher up at Lac de Hongrin. And, believe it or not, at times it does the opposite: pumping water from the lake back up to Lac de Hongrin. Find out why this is done.

One of the halls is bigger than the Cathedral of Lausanne, so you can imagine this is really a most unusual place.

After the visit we will have time to sit outside for coffee or tea at the Café Byron on the side of the Château de Chillon.

There is parking space on either side of the street after passing the Château and before you reach our meeting place.

We need to be a group of ten for the company to organize a guided tour. If you need help to get there let us know.

Date : Wednesday, October 20 14h30 (be there 10 minutes ahead of time)

Deadline : Monday, October 18

Meeting : At the building 'Forces Motrices Hongrin-Léman', av Chillon 16, Veytaux (Bus stop Grandchamp) MAP

Cost : Visit is free
